

PAWWATCH REGISTRY

A source-linked public-interest registry of verified animal-cruelty convictions

Mission and reach

PawWatch helps the public find documented animal-cruelty convictions by state. Every published record links to an official or credible source and distinguishes convictions from allegations.

What visitors can do

- Search all 50 states
- Review source-linked case details
- Explore conviction locations on a national map
- Request corrections and submit documented cases

Editorial safeguards

Records are published only after conviction verification. Corrections are reviewed promptly. Sponsorship never determines who is listed, how a case is described, or whether a record remains published.
